

Career Coaching

New for 2017, the 30th Annual OR Manager Conference is offering you the opportunity to partake in career coaching sessions. As a nurse and lifelong leader, this is the chance for you to gain an educational background for the growth of your career. Have your questions answered by someone who has already been in your shoes!

If you're interested in taking this step to better yourself, email Taylor Shaw to sign up for a twenty minute time slot to meet with Veronica B. Decker, DNP, MBA, RN, PMHCNS-BC to discuss your career intentions and gain advice on what path to take to achieve your personal goals. Currently an Assistant Professor at the University of Central Florida College of Nursing, Dr. Decker has extensive experience as a nurse leader, author, speaker, and much more. Meetings will take place in a designated session room to avoid any disturbance and make this a truly personal experience.

Career coaching sessions will be filled on a first come, first served basis. Please send the following when contacting Taylor Shaw so your meeting with Dr. Decker can be tailored to your needs as a forerunner in the perioperative suite:

- Your resume or CV
- A brief summary of what you are hoping to gain from your time with the career coach (i.e. outline future goals, advice for career growth, etc.)
- Your preferred meeting time
